Young Girls Under Arrest for Larceny

Jennie Fields, a sixteen year old girl and her companion, Minnie Dytch, of East Schoonmaker avenue, are being held at the police station on a charge of larceny preferred by an aunt of the Fields girl. According to the story told the police, the two girls came to the home of the aunt yesterday and asked permission to go upstairs. They remained upstairs for some time and the aunt, becoming suspicious, went upstairs after their departure and discovered that her hand bag containing $35.00 which had been hidden under a pillow was missing.

The police were notified and in a short time arrested the two girls in an alley and recovered the money. Both prisoners were taken to the police station and charges were brought before a Justice of the Peace. The hearing has been set for Friday.

The Fields girl was arrested a few days ago in company with a man old enough to be her father near the midnight hour in an alley. She was hailed before the burgess and a relative paid her fine, with the understanding that she was to be rearrested if caught on the streets after ten o'clock. This, however, had little effect on the girl who continued to roam the streets at all hours and it is expected that efforts will be made to send her to a reform school. Her father lives in Cleveland and it is expected that he will come here to take charge of his wayward daughter.

Hope for Settlement

By WEBB MILLER

(Unitd Press Staff Correspondent.)

London, Oct. 20.—The coal strike, a threatened strike of transport workers and difficulties in Ireland were before Parliament today.

The government has accepted a motion by Arthur Henderson, laborite, censuring its attitude toward police reprisals in Ireland. Premier Lloyd George expected a substantial vote of confidence to result.

Lloyd George, in his speech in the House of Commons last night, asked that the nation trust the government to handle the coal strike. He based this on his offer to confer with the miners any time if they were ready to talk of an impartial tribunal to settle their wage demands or if they were ready to negotiate on the basis of increased production.

The press, commenting on parliament's handling of the strike, continued optimistic today but warned that the break in the deadlock caused by the offer of a "way out" by William Brace, Labor member, was only superficial. Brace called for the immediate grant of a two shillings per day increase This was to be followed by conferences between miners and owners for a permanent settlement and an agreement on production. He also suggested a government-miners-owners conference to agree on the division of proceeds from the mining business.

Lloyd George's firmness in insisting on a production basis for any increase was a disappointment to the miners.

The problem was made more complex by the threat of 150,000 transport workers to strike Saturday, if wage increases are not granted at once.

France Interested

By HENRY WOOD

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Paris, Oct. 20.—Paris has not solved the mystery of who informed Senator Warren G. Harding that France is interested in a new association of nations.

The general impression here was that the senator's statement probably was based on the declaration of some well informed Frenchman.

If the Senator's informant was Maurice De Kobra, correspondent of La Liberta, as has been suggested by Gov. Cox, no one on the paper knows of it. Editor in Chief Bard shrugged his shoulders when the question was put to him.

"I don't know what De Kobra may have said. There is nothing in his correspondence as yet to indicate he saw Harding," Bard said. "Whatever he may have said would be only his personal opinion as a newspaperman. De Kobra is not even indirectly representing the government or any political group."

Two of De Kobra's articles on the political situation in the United States have appeared here.

The press generally regards the controversy as nothing more than a campaign incident without importance outside the United States. The Echo de Paris alone commented on the situation, saying:

"It's quite evident that, in France, as well as in England, it is not desired that the league of nations, founded principally for the purpose of assuring us the co-operation of America, should, despite the grave inconveniences which it presents, prevent by reason of its constitution, this cooperation. In other words, the society itself is of so little help to us in its present form that we have no reason for opposing a change.

"However, it is impossible for us to learn who was the unofficial representative who communicated the evident truths to Senator Harding."

Nation Wide Election Returns For Monessen

Arrangements have been completed by the Daily Independent to give the residents of this city the best service obtainable on the election returns and the citizens are assurred of a service exactly the same as that rendered to all the larger papers in the big cities. A special leased wire has been secured from the United Press and will be open from nine o'clock in the evening until the early hours of the morning, reports being received from over the nation continously.

The United Press correspondents in the larger cities throughout the country will get the reports first hand and the moment they are received in New York, Pittsburgh, Chicago and all other cities, the residents of Monessen will be given the same reports.

In order that the citizens may receive the reports immediately the wire will be kept open continuously, calls being received every half minute and by early morning it is certain that the final result of the election will be known here.

This service will be given absolutely without cost to the residents of Monessen and vicinity. Bulletins will be posted throughout the night in front of the Independent office and those who wish to call on the phone will be given available information as to the trend of the election in all states. You can sit at home and call by phone 53, to the Independent office and you will know the results as quickly as they are known to any person anywhere.

In addition to the national returns reports will be received from each ward in Monessen as well as a full report from Greensburg as to the results in Westmoreland county.

MANY FATALITIES CAUSED BY COLLISION OF TRAINS AT ERIE THIS MORNING

(By United Press)

Erie, Pa., Oct. 20.—Six known dead and twenty-five injured, four perhaps fatally, was the toll of a wreck two hundred feet west of the Union depot of the New York Central lines here at 10:45, eastern time, this morning. Passenger train No. 60, east bound, crashed through an open switch into No. 23, west bound passenger train, toppling the pullman car Peosta, on its side, crumbling its rear end like an egg shell and shearing the steel from the truck. It was necessary to cut away the side of the Peosta to rescue the dead and injured.

The pullman car Amerita was less seriously damaged, being the second car in the standing train. The less seriously injured were passengers in this car. A railroad investigation will be held tonight in an effort to fix the blame for the accident.

The dead include four unidentified, a girl and three women. Caspard DeSchampo of Missoula, Mon., and Alvin Carlson, a boy of 13, of Seboska, Minn. Those seriously injured include Mrs. G. L. Secord of Chicago, Elma Forsmach of Sweden; Walter A. Richardson, colored, of New York, two unidentified women, both unconscious. Mrs. Jack Hanson of Seattle Wis., George W. Andrews of Buffalo and Ida C. Myers of Chicago Beach.

Situation Serious

By CHARLES McCANN

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

London, Oct. 20.—Great Britain's coal strike became more serious today. Minor disturbances were reported from different quarters; rumors of sympathetic strikes began to spread and the nation gradually felt the effect of a lessoned supply of fuel.

There were three meetings today with a possible effect on the strike. These were the meetings of the parliamentary committee of the Trades Union Congress, the railwaymen's delegates, and the transport workers' executives. The railway men and transport workers, with the miners, form the triple alliance

Suit For Money

E. W. Heckman and Jennie Heckman, of Monessen, have brought suit against Edward Houston to recover $360. The plaintiffs state that, May 13, 1920, they sold to the defendant all furnishings and household goods, reserving a few articles, for $2,000, of which $1,600 was the amount paid. It is stated that rent to the amount of $60 was collected

Recover Three Bodies

The bodies of three river victims, two of them unidentified, were recovered yesterday. Several hours after he had been missed from a steamboat on which he was employed, the body of John Slacker, 69 years old, of Elizabeth, was recovered in the Monongahela river near Elizabeth.

Well dressed and wearing a large diamond ring, the body of a man, about 45 years old, was recovered from the Allegheny river, near Harmarville. The body was found imbedded in the underbrush along the river bank.

Morgue attaches also were unable to learn the identity of the body of a man about 24 years old, found floating in the Ohio river, near Glenwillard. The body was dressed in working clothes and was coatless.

Many Third Class Cities in This State

The electors of Monessen borough will have the privilege of voting on the adoption of a third class city on November 2nd. As rapidly as the opportunity is given voters of boroughs the size of Monessen are taking advantage of a form of government more adapted to places with a population above 10,000. Already thirty-five boroughs have adopted the city form with its enlarged powers and with its provisions of broader protection.

If Monessen votes favorably, at next spring primaries it will nominate four councilmen and a mayor to be elected in November and take office on January 1st, 1922. The officials of the city will be chosen at large instead of by wards. Cities of the third class claim that one of the greatest weapons of protection under the law that governs them is the fact that there can be no floating debt either for operating expenses or improvements. The budget system is legally in effect and every dollar that is to be expended during the year must be provided for in advance unless an emergency should arise.

The cities of the third class in Pennsylvania are:

Allentown	Johnstown
Altoona	Lancaster
Bethlehem	Lebanon
Bradford	Lock Haven
Butler	McKeesport
Carbondale	Meadville
Chester	Monongahela
Coatesville	New Castle
Connellsville	Oil City
Corry	Pittston
DuBois	Pottsville
Duquesne	Reading
Easton	Sharon
Erie	Titusville
Franklin	Uniontown
Harrisburg	Wilkes-Barre
Hazelton	Williamsport
	York

Should Monessen vote favorably it will step out of the small town class and will take its place among the cities of the state and will assume a new role in the application of principles of local government that will not only give an added prestige but will give the taxpayers and the people greater protection and economy in the administration of civic affairs.

Celebration Assured

Indications point to the largest Halloween celebration ever held in the Monongahela valley for this city on Monday night, November 1, as the committee in charge of the event has met with success and all have promised their co-operation. Sufficient donations have already been made to insure the services of two bands and also cash prizes for the various events. Prizes will not only be given to individuals in grotesque and fantastic costumes, but to the largest delegations, the most comic delegation and those who come the longest distance for the event.

It is expected that surrounding towns, none of which have announced a similar celebration, will send large delegations to participate in the parade and it is also expected that several visiting musical organizations will be in line. The announcement of the prizes to be offered along with the route and time of parade will be made in a short time.

Under Martial Law

(By United Press)

Copenhagen, Oct. 20.—Martial law has been declared in 12 Russian departments, including the cities of Petrograd and Moscow, according to a report published in the Pravda today.

Rumors of anti-Balshevik uprisings in Russia have filtered through the frontiers at frequent intervals during the last few days. Clashes between Red troops and rebels have been reported in the streets of Moscow.

Bed Was Afire

The fire department was called out at 10:45 this morning when smoke was seen issuing from the window on a second floor of a frame structure at 1108 Schoonmaker avenue. The blaze was caused by a boarder who fell asleep with a cigarette in his mouth, setting the bed clothing afire. The sleeper awoke in time to make his escape and assisted in throwing the burning matress and blankets to the yard below. The damage was slight and the blaze entirely extinguished before the arrival of the firemen. Chief Laird discovered that a gas stove in the room was connected by rubber hose and immediately ordered the removal of the hose connections.

Seeking Fugitives

(By United Press)

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 20.—George Stivers and Marcus Bassett, convicts who escaped from Sing Sing last Saturday night were believed by police today to be hiding near Albany. W. C Curtis, of Little Falls reported to the police of Rensellaer during the night that three men held him up at Onderdonk 15 miles from here, two of them, he said answering the descriptions of the escaped convicts.

Curtis said he picked up the men at West Warren, near Springfield, Mass., when they asked him for a ride. Then when they tried to hold him up he was saved by the approach of another automobile. The men fled.

Police were searching the woods along the Hudson river near Albany for trace of the men.

Police Believe Young Woman Took Poison

A young girl giving her name as Margaret Page of this city, but who later denied her former statement and stated that her real name was Margaret Martin, aged 24, of 1212 Madison avenue, Pittsburgh, is a patient in the South Side hospital as a result of taking poison which she swallowed while in an automobile in the Eighteenth street extension, Pittsburgh, last night.

According to the Pittsburgh police the party gave their names as John Ross and wife, Josephine Ross, Jas. Brown and Steve Mormingus, all giving their address as 939 Schoonmaker avenue, Monessen. They are all well known in this city. The entire party was placed under arrest and taken to the Southside police station where it was found that Mrs. Josephine Ross carried a revolver. An extra set of Ohio license plates were found in the tonneau of the machine, police say.

It was impossible to get a statement from the young girl as to why she had taken the poison, which it is alleged she purchased in a Carrick drug store. As the machine was crossing South Eighteenth street, the girl suddenly put her hand to her mouth and in a few moments became seriously ill. She was rushed to the confectionery store of George Sommers, nearby and later removed to the South Thirteenth street police station, from where she was later taken to the Southside hospital. At that institution this morning, it was stated that the girl's condition was not serious and that she would recover.

REPUBLICAN IN POLITICS

BUY IN QUANTITY

Fred Rasmussen, State Secretary of Agriculture, is rendering not only the farmers, but all the people of the state, valuable service in his efforts to save the apple crop of Pennsylvania by placing it promptly in the hands of consumers.

This is good government of the most practical sort. The Secretary is not only an expert in the theory of agriculture, but he believes in putting his practical business knowledge and that of his associates to work for the relief of the grower who has produced tremendously and is seeking an outlet for his products. If the apples rot on the farm, neither the consumer nor the farmer is benefitted. Indeed, both are losers. But, if the fruit reaches the households of the state, then all are benefitted, for apples are both cheap and wholesome.

The Secretary urges families to buy by the half-bushel, the bushel and the barrel, instead of quarter-peck lots. That is good advice. Apples of the winter variety are easily kept. They are cheap when bought in quantity and expensive when purchased by small measures. They are lower in price now than they will be later. Now is the time to lay in a supply to last at least until Christmas.

Help Secretary Rasmussen to help the farmer, and you will find that, in addition you have been helping yourself.

CENSURE

A young woman killed herself. At 22 she was tired of life; tired because the man she loved betrayed her. So she threw herself over a cliff and perished in water beneath. The coroner's jury heard the evidence, how the girl had been deceived by the man, and how the man had refused to give her unborn child his name. The jury then returned a verdict of suicide, unanimously agreeing that the man was deserving of the highest censure.

That was the end. There was nothing more that man-made law could do. If this man had pushed the girl over the cliff the law might have hanged him. If he had struck her the law might have punished him severely. If he had thrown a pebble at her the law might have dealt severely with him. But inasmuch as he did nothing more than to drive her into a suicide's grave the law can but censure him.

Such is the law the world over.

There will soon be no more suffragists or suffragettes, just as there are no more abolitionists—for the simple reason that they have won their cause and served their purpose. This applies to all reformers—except perhaps prohibitionists. Prohibition is supposed to be an accomplished fact and it is written into the constitution, but the matter seems to be an issue still (or should we say a "still" issue), and we find the Prohibition party in the field with a presidential ticket the same as the other parties.

Sixteen Japanese hucksters of Los Angeles were fined $50 each for profiteering by selling short-weight boxes of strawberries at 15 cents a box. They paid the fines and next day raised the price to 22 cents. Of course the Los Angeleans complained at the increase, but we don't see that they have anything to kick about. At any time they want to raise their own strawberries instead of depending on the Japanese to do it for them they can do so. The remedy is in their own hands It does no good to denounce others as profiteers unless you can show how to produce produce things more cheaply than they do.

Having heard very discouraging reports from their field workers, many political managers proceed to double their claim of the majority they are going to get.

Some people want editors to be licensed, but it will be a tussle to strap a collar around the necks of some of them with anybody's nameplate on it.

The people who stop their papers because they don't agree with the editor's politics, must be awfully surprised when the next issue comes out on time.

Many good people who won't run for office because they fear being attacked, put up an awful holler when the bold bad men get elected.

Mighty good idea for a lot of the politicians to get in their celebrating now. They won't feel much like it after election.

Some of the people who swipe fruit along the roadsides wonder why farmers don't raise more and keep the market supplied.

Mother says she is convinced that there is dirty work in football, as the boys get their padded trousers terribly soiled.

SENATOR HARDING PROPOSES WELFARE POST IN CABINET

Tells 12,000 Women He Favors Department in Defense of Mothers, Childhood and Public Health.

TO ADVANCE SOCIAL JUSTICE.

Emphasizes Need of Safeguarding Women on American Farms. Stands for Enforcement of Law

Marion, O.—The creation of a Federal Department of Public Welfare to function in defense of maternity, childhood and public health was proposed by Senator Harding in a speech on social justice to 5,000 women who came to his front porch from all points of the compass.

Such a department, said Senator Harding, must "avoid the fearful results of bureaucracy. There can be no more efficient way of advancing a humanitarian program," he said, "than by adapting the machinery of our Federal Government to the purposes we desire to attain. While others may have their eyes fixed upon some particular piece of legislation or more particular policy of social justice which calls for the sympathetic interest of us all, I say, without hesitation, that our primary consideration must be the machinery of administration, and that when the time comes for us to reorganize our administrative government in Washington we must all stand together for the creation of a Department of Public Welfare.

"I pledge myself today," he said, "to support with all that is in me whatever practical policy of social welfare and social justice can be brought forward by the combined wisdom of all Americans. Nothing can concern America, and nothing can concern me as an American, more deeply than the health, the happiness and the enlightenment of every fellow American.

Must Avoid Paternalism.

"The social justice that I conceive is not paternalism. It would be easy to make it so, and dangerous indeed to the best spirit that Americans can have—the spirit of expressing by the individual free will one's own merits, capacity and worth. We do not want government to suppress that expression of free will, even by benevolence, but we do mean to preserve in America an equal opportunity and a preparedness for self expression therein, even though we use the government to do it.

"I believe that there is no step more practical, no step which will mean more to the growth of America's social welfare; no step which will guarantee better America's social justice, than one which I propose to you.

Dangers to Be Avoided.

"I have no doubt that there will be some who will find in this proposal cause for calling me an extremist, but when we have a task to do, which has been dictated by our conscience and approved by our wisdom, let us straightway find the way to do it. I do not say this without a word of caution. I recognize certain dangers which are always presented when government undertakes large and detailed tasks."

Tasks of Social Justice.

Senator Harding pointed out the necessity of going forward upon a sure footing and declared:

"When making the proposal for a department of public welfare to America, I am aware that I have made a step in advance of any platform.

"We all know that we face tasks of social justice, which we must undertake with dispatch and efficiency Who can suggest one of these tasks which can supersede in our hearts, or in the rank which foresight and wisdom will give that of the protection of our maternity?

"The protection of the motherhood of America can not be accomplished until the state and the nation have enacted and, by their example, have enforced customs, which protect womanhood itself. I know full well that there are women who insist that women shall be treated upon the same basis that men are treated."

Senator Harding discussed the need of adequate protection for women in industry and expressed his belief in the wisdom of an eight-hour day for women workers. He emphasized the need of safeguarding the women on American farms. He proposed putting the Children's Bureau under the suggested Department of Public Welfare, and urged prevention of abuses of child labor.

"I must not fail," Senator Harding went on, "to speak to you today of one of the measures of social justice and social welfare not often catalogued in this manner, but perhaps more important than any we have considered. I refer to the enforcement of law. It will not be my business when elected to decide what laws shall be. It will be legitimate for me to invoke public opinion for their enactment, but such a call to public opinion must be based more upon the duty of the Executive of the nation to give facts to the people than upon his desire to give opinion, theory and propaganda. The enforcement of the law is an Executive responsibility and must be undertaken by the Executive without regard for his personal approval or disapproval of the law, which it has been the people's will to enact."

The blush of youth may look very rosy, but those who have sampled it say it often has a chemical taste.

Gland Help Without Monkeys!

Other Animal Glands Now Used in Tablet Form Combined With Iron

Many persons, attracted by the reports of monkey and goat gland treatment are asking why the glands have such an important bearing upon health.

In explanation, it is said that the glands secrete tiny chemical elements called "hormones" and that the health and activities of blood and body cells are controlled in great measure by these "hormones." If the glands are run-down through sickness, physical or mental overwork or excesses of any kind "hormone-hunger" is said to set in and ill health follows, attended often by such symptoms as nervous disorders, enaemia and a general rundown condition.

In order that "hormones" may be supplied to the blood they are secured from the glands of animals, but now, instead of monkey and goat glands, the extract are often taken from the glands of sheep and cattle and instead of transplanting them by means of an operation they are now prepared in form of a small tablet. One such preparation known as Glandex Compound contains other health building ingredients such as iron and is now being used by thousands as a constitutional tonic.

The Glandex Company, Inc., of 244 West 29th Street, New York, under whose formula Glandex Compound is prepared, authorize any druggist to return the purchase price, if after two weeks no results are not entirely satisfactory.

Note: $1,000 will be paid by the Glandex Company, Inc., to anyone proving that Glandex Compound does not contain genuine desiccated gland substance (popularly known as Gland Extracts) from sheep and cattle.

For sale by Craig's drug store, 461 Donner avenue and good druggists everywhere.

League of Nations Has Many Problems

By Webb C. Miller

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, Oct. 5—Charges that the League of Nations has accomplished nothing during its first ten months of existence will be met when the Assembly of the League meets at Geneva for the initial session, at 11 o'clock on the morning of November 15.

Advance information indicates that a number of days will be required merely to hear the reports of the various commissions which have been authorized by the Council to investigate international questions.

The first meeting probably will be presided over by Mr. Paul Hymans, of Belgium. Later a permanent president will be chosen by the Assembly to preside for the remainder of the conference.

The first subject on the program is the discussion and adoption of rules of procedure and the appointment of the committee to examine and report on the credentials of the delegates.

Then will come the matter of admission of states not named in the original covenant, and not signatories of the peace treaties. These states who have already qualified for full membership rights will be immediately enrolled in the League.

Then will come the consideration and action of the League Council in the following matters:

The appointment of three members of the Star Valley boundary commission.

The Star Basin governing Commission.

The appointment of the high commissioner of Danzig and the approval of the constitution of the Free City.

Responsibilties of the League arising out of the distribution of mandates and the enforcement of Article XXII (on mandates).

The appointment of Dr. Fridjof Nansen, Artic explorer, to investigate the problem connected with the repartriation of ex-enemy prisoners from Russia and Germany to their respective countries.

The proposed Commission of Enquiry on Russia (defunct).

The Polish Minority Treaty—Guarantees of the League.

The resolution regarding the admission of Switzerland.

The establishment of the permanent Commission under Article XI of the Covenant.

The first and second budgets of the League.

Relief in Central Europe and methods and measures to combat the spread of typhus.

Eupen and Malmedy (M. Da Cuhna's report approving the plebiscite which gave there provinces to Belgium.

Relations between the Council and the Assembly.

Following the Assembly's action on these matters, Secretary Sir. Eric Drummond will report in detail on the present organizations and work of the League's Secretariat, and the resolution of the Council which established the seat of the League of Geneva.

The next subject that will be dealt with will be the Root--Phillmore International Court of Arbitration. Inasmuch as several European nations are as opposed to the unlimited powers of the Court, as the United States is to the unqualified Article Ten of the Covenant, considerable debate is anticipated before the Court's constitution is finally approvd.

The big question in the minds of many anti and pro-league partisans is: Shall the court be subservient to the League Council or shall the League Council be powerless to modify or change any decisions arrived at by the Court?

The other questions, on the tentative agenda, and the order in which they will be taken up are:

The establishment of a Permanent Health organization.

An organization to deal with international communications and transit questions.

A Tribunal to attend to the settlement of differences referred to in various articles of the Versailles treaty.

The relations between Technical Organizations and the Council and Assembly of the League.

Recommendations of the International Financialcon conference.

Fordson

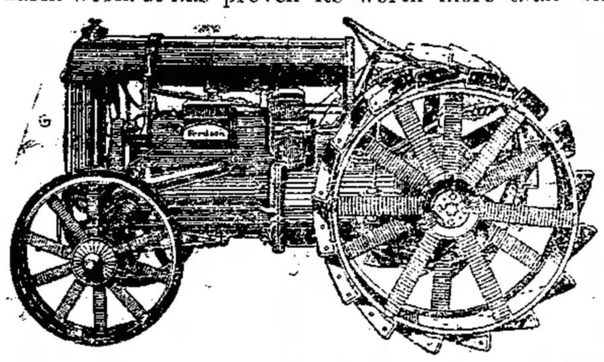
TRADE MARK

Farm Tractor

When Henry Ford set about building the Fordson tractor he had a thorough understanding of just what it should be and what it shoul ddo. His early life on the farm gave him a deep insight into the daily life of the farmer; his mechanical genius saw the type of tractor needed. He began work on a farm tractor thirty-five years ago, and for more than twelve he experimented over more than 7,000 acres of land in different kinds of soil, with different crops.

So he built the Fordson. It is so simple that a schoolboy can operate it. It is lo win first cost. It is lowest in operating cost and Fordson parts and Fordson service are always to be had promptly from the dealer.

The Fordson is a profitable investment. It can be used every working day in the year. It is an inexpensive power plant that will lighten your farm work. It has proven its worth more than one hundred thousand farms not only in operating implements in the fields but in belt and pulley work. And it doesn't eat when idle.



Don't delay ordering your Fordson tractor. The demand is greater than the supply.

Sad Day Coming for the Pitchers

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York Oct 20—Beginning with the year 1930 professional baseball should have a batting renaissance.

At just about that time the unintentional tutoring of Babe Ruth will begin to show its effect on American youth. Kids now at the impressionable age will be beginning to break into box scores of professional baseball and the cards say that a flock of pitchers will begin to yell for a ball a trifle less lively. Owners of clubs, too will favor legislation to keep a flock of pellets from leaving the grounds every day. Something new in the way of batting achievements will have to be invented, probably because home runs should be as common then as ordinary hits are now.

The reason for this dip into prophecy naturally is that everywhere in the broad—except perhaps mentally—land, the ten year old kid is imitating Babe Ruth. They've got his swing, his "stance" and even his "waggle."

Just as a caddy develops into a star golfer, simply through conscious or unconscious imitation of the star drivers and putters he serves, so are the kids of today going to pick up some of Babe's home run methods.

The case of Babe is unusually adaptable because batting out a generally admitted that his swing and "follow through" help a lot in gaining distance. No one is more apt to accelerating the cunning of a star than the ten year old boy.

Baseball players just starting their career should avoid becoming pitchers. In just a few more years the mounds-men will be getting their bumps.

LAUDS HARDING'S WELFARE PROGRAM

Marion, O.—Mrs. Raymond Robins, of Chicago, was the spokeswoman for thousands of women industrial workers and women interested in problems of public welfare who gathered here to listen to Senator Harding's speech on "Social Justice."

Mrs. Robins, who is president of the National Women's Trades Union League, said:

"We have come knowing well that we represent but one of many groups of citizens in America, with necessarily divergent interests, and we understand we must find the way so to relate our various needs and hopes and aspirations that out of such inter-relationship may come the realization of America's ideals, for first and above all we want to serve our country."

"We have always known," said Mrs. Robins, "that certain groups of women are vitally interested in social and industrial questions—but we did not know that the great mass of women, all sorts of women, young and old, from the farms and from the cities—are also interested.

"What is it they see in the call to social justice? They see their opportunity to serve the nation in and through a program dealing with the vital issues with which they are at home, the protection of childhood, the care of mothers and babies, the safeguarding of women workers, the conservation of health and the needs of women on the farms.

"We have listened to a great speech, one of the few great speeches of a decade, and its effect will be far reaching."

Many are for Cox, says George Harvey, because they are convinced that he will not keep his word. It is hard to conceive a harsher criticism of a Presidential candidate.—Wheeling (W. Va.) Intelligencer.

Cheer up girls—as old Doctor Munyon said—"there is hope".

Yes, verily, there is hope. You may not possess a beautiful face but you can have a well nigh perfect figure. And that doesn't mean a camouflage shape either, but the simon pure genuine Venus de Milo from de luxe

So says Miss Mildred Garrison, who very modestly takes first honors for being the most perfectly formed girl in all the world. Miss Garrison has been before all the big physical culture societies and organizations and the physical culture board of New York City states that she is the most perfectly formed girl on record.

Miss Garrison with her sister is at the Olympic in a posing act of exceptional beauty. A newspaperman learning that such a celebrated model was in town sought an interview with her and finally located Miss Garrison in her dressing room at the theatre. The reporter had visions of finding Miss Garrison reclining on some sort of classic Grecian robes, and he received his first jolt when he was ushered into the dressing room and found Miss Garrison in a 1920 model suit—of all things—knitting.

"How can girls get perfect forms" the reporter busted right in with "how can the girls possess shapes that would be passed by the National Board of Censorship or whatever it is, as being the proper thing to display in a cute bathing suit?"

Miss Garrison laughed and said: "That's easy."

And here, girls, is the secret, take it from Miss Mildred Garrison who should know being the most perfectly formed girl in the world.

First be natural. Do as you please, cut out all the freak stunts. Don't try rolling around on the floor if you're too fat. Walk a little more, breathe a little more and eat a little less. Do the same thing if you're thin. Put yourself in a comfortable state of mind and just think that you are going to be a little less stout or a little more stout as the case may be. If you like to dance, dance; if you like swimming, swim. If you like to wear high heels, wear 'em. Just act natural, that's all.
